Minimum Wage Increases 'Better Than Unemployment Benefits' Study suggests people will support basic increases A new poll sponsored by George Mason University finds a majority of Americans support raising the minimum wage to $10 per hour, with a majority viewing that proposal as an improvement over the government's $7.25 per hour jobless benefits program. The poll, which was commissioned by the Institute for Family, Community and Opportunity, found that 46 percent think a minimum wage increase of $10 to $15 an hour is "a good idea." Twenty-four percent think the rate would be "a bad idea" while 30 percent were unsure. Critics have suggested that $10 an hour is too high a rate because wages that high are usually associated with moderate inflation and a scarcity of workers to provide that extra income. "I do believe that the wage should be fairly high," said survey respondent Douglas Blanchard, 56, of Falls Church, Va., "but it should not be such that people are out of work, or people who are doing something else will not be able to do that either." The poll asked respondents about a $10 per hour minimum wage, including an increase of $7.25 per hour currently provided to Americans under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. It asked respondents for their views on an increase of $5 per hour. Respondents were asked whether a wage of $10 per hour is better than a jobless benefits program. Of the 479 people surveyed, 75 percent said it would be, 14 percent said it would not, while the remaining 11 percent were unsure. The Institute for Family, Community and Opportunity is a project of the Mercatus Center at GMU, a libertarian-leaning, free-market research center founded in 1985. The survey was conducted online from June 1 to June 14 among respondents in the continental United States who reported Internet access. "I think that people would have sympathy for the fact that people don't want to sit around doing nothing," Blanchard said. He added, "There are people who would like to be working but have

I have been testing the stored procedure with dummy data and it is updating the table as expected but when I try to insert into the table the rows don't get saved. I tried converting the proc to an insert statement but I keep getting a message that says error converting data type nvarchar to int. Code for the Stored Procedure: ALTER PROCEDURE [dbo].[UpdProc] AS BEGIN SET NOCOUNT ON; DECLARE @ID INT INSERT INTO [dbo].YT SELECT SUM(YT.KMG) FROM(SELECT YEAR(FR.FL_START_DATE)AS [YEAR],MONTH(FR.FL_START_DATE) AS [MONTH],DAY(FR.FL_START_DATE) AS [DAY],SUM(CASE WHEN MONTH(FR.FL_START_DATE) = MONTH(D.DIA_START_DATE) THEN D.DIA_COUNT END) AS [FULLMONTH] FROM [HRS].[YT] YT, [HRS].[DIA] D WHERE D.DIA_STATUS IN ('Closed','Active','Delay Closing') AND YT.DIA_ID=D.DIA_ID AND YT.YEAR(FL_START_DATE)>=D.YEAR(DIA_START_DATE) AND YT.YEAR(FL_START_DATE)<=YT.YEAR(D.DIA_END_DATE)) GROUP BY YT.YEAR, YT.MONTH,YT.DAY UPDATE [dbo].[YT] SET [TotEarnings]=@ID f988f36e3a
