Q: How to parse an ArrayList by field name from JSON I have a JSON response, which is converted to a POJO using GSON. The response is: {"message":"success","userId":"1"} My POJO is as follows: public class Response { @SerializedName("message") private String message; @SerializedName("userId") private String userId; public String getMessage() { return message; } public void setMessage(String message) { this.message = message; } public String getUserId() { return userId; } public void setUserId(String userId) { this.userId = userId; } } From this, how do I get the userId? I have tried following: String jsonResponse = mService.getString("" + message); ObjectMapper mapper = new ObjectMapper(); Response response = mapper.readValue(jsonResponse, Response.class); Response response = mapper.readValue(jsonResponse, Response.class); I have also tried: String jsonResponse = mService.getString("" + message); JSONArray jsonArray = new JSONArray(jsonResponse); Iterator itr = jsonArray.keys(); JSONObject object = jsonArray.getJSONObject(0); String userID = object.getString("userId"); But none of these solutions worked for me. Any help would be appreciated!

A: In your case, you don't need to convert your JSON string to POJO, you can read JSON directly into POJO and you won't get exception. Check out below: private String getId(JSONObject jsonObject) { return jsonObject.getString("userId"); } You can use this function as: String message = "message":"success","userId"
